Performance Workshop Migrant Performativities

Does displacement produce a new perspective on my identity?
How do I approach my culture from a distance?
What do I let go and what do I preserve?

A workshop aiming to provide attendees with tools for the creation of individual or collective performative work focused on their migratory experiences and the personal metamorphosis that is generated through these processes. Questions on personal experiences of migration will be addressed in the workshop that will be deeply focused on the particular cultural contexts of the attendees, to establish a multicultural learning platform for the group.
